

Mr Robert Allender FHKAEE

Mr Robert Allender FHKAEE is the Managing Director of EnergyUse Strategy Advisors (ESA). For the past 30 years he has studied what corporate senior executives and board members do when they realise their company's energy affairs are not delivering all the value they could be, and has helped many who decided to do better. Clients have come from finance, manufacturing, mining, real estate, leisure and travel, and telecommunications.

Over the decades Mr Allender has served on government committees, taught for a top-ranking business school, and authored entries in a specialist management encyclopaedia.

More recently, he has written numerous articles about, and been interviewed and spoken extensively about, the ESG, energy transition, and climate emergency aspects of corporate energy affairs in general, and energyuse strategy in particular.
