The 13th Biennial Corporate Governance Conference (CGC 2022) aims to examine the economic, social and environmental issues that are contributing to the changing risk environment for the governance professionals. Whilst there will be some focus on listed companies, the conference aims to discuss how other entities, be they statutory bodies, non-governmental organisations, social enterprises and private companies can adapt and evolve to find a new purpose in changing times.

As governance professionals play a vital role in providing advice and assisting the board in driving business performance and create resilience, they must take into account areas of the latest developments in applied governance. One of the objectives of the conference is to provide thought leadership from the applied governance perspective to generate an awareness on these global issues.

For enquiries, please contact the Institute's Professional Development Section: 2881 6177, or email: cpd@hkgci.org.hk.

Competition Law Guidance Note

The Hong Kong Competition Commission's first action against "facilitators" of a cartel – the tourist attraction tickets case

The governance professional will know that where two competitors come together to form a 'cartel' to prevent, restrict or distort competition in Hong Kong, this will violate the first conduct rule¹. In most cases, the cartel will operate between competitors at the same level of the supply chain. But less obvious is how other parties may be held as 'facilitators' of the cartel, and in some cases, unwittingly caught under the Hong Kong Competition Ordinance (Ordinance). This guidance note is intended to raise awareness of this practical governance issue for the governance professional.

Introduction to the case

The case involves two competing travel service providers, Gray Line Tours of Hong Kong Limited (Gray Line) and Tink Labs Limited (Tink Labs), which are accused of fixing and controlling the prices of tourist attractions and transportation tickets sold at certain hotels' counter desks by Gray Line with those sold through 'handy' electronic smartphones at hotel rooms by Tink Labs.

The prices of the tickets available at Tink Labs' handy devices were often cheaper than the tickets available via the Gray Line's counter desk at the same hotel. Gray Line raised this as a complaint to the relevant hotels and another party (ITL, a company that subleased a tour desk at one of the hotels to Gray Line), and in some cases asked these hotels and ITL to instruct Tink Labs to stop selling tickets entirely.

Following investigations, the Hong Kong Competition Commission (Commission) concluded that it had reasonable cause to believe that six hotels and
